

PET FOOD RECALL

Bravo has announced a voluntary recall on three of its poultry products for cats and dogs. The pet food is being recalled because two of the products have the potential to be contaminated with Salmonella and Listeria monocytogenes, while the third product has the potential to be contaminated with Listeria monocytogenes.

Both Salmonella and Listeria are organisms that can cause serious infections in cats and dogs, and if there is a cross contamination, people may be infected as well, especially small children, the elderly and people with weakened immune systems. Symptoms may include but not be limited to high fever, severe headaches, vomiting, nausea, abdominal pain and diarrhea. To date, the company has received no reports of illness in either people or animals associated with the three products.

The three products can be identified by the batch ID code located on the hang-tag attached to the bottom of the plastic film tubes. The products are:

Bravo Original Formula Chicken Blend frozen raw food

Product numbers: 21-102, 21-105, 21-110

Size: 2, 5, 10-pound tubes

Batch ID code: 236

Bravo Original Formula Turkey Blend frozen raw food

Product numbers: 31-102, 31-105, 31-110

Size: 2, 5, 10-pound tubes

Batch ID code: 236

Bravo Basic Formula Finely Ground Chicken frozen raw food

Product numbers: 21-212

Size: 2-pound tube

Batch ID code: 226

For more information and "frequently asked questions," visit the Bravo website at www.bravorawdiet.com, or call toll free at 866-922-9222.